IMCAS: Made in France* but connected to the world

*After all, France has the "savoir-faire"to meet the demands of a clientèle who is looking for services or products consistently more precious and unique. IMCAS has not only been "Made in France" for over 20 years, contributing to the country's tradition of expert knowledge and care, but is also proud of its international scope and connections. Our expert international speakers are respected throughout the world and the participants of the IMCAS Annual World Congress come from 85 countries.
So a congress with the French touch? Yes it is.

Welcome

Dear Colleagues,

We are kickstarting this new year once more kickstarting this new year on a high note with our 19th Edition of the IMCAS Annual World Congress.

"Welcome back!" to our loyal attendees,
"Bienvenue!" to those among you who are visiting us for the first time!

Each year we strive to bring you a richer, more immersive learning experience and our Scientific Committee has worked hard to bring together the best experts and their insights in the aesthetic medical field, all in four days!

The 2017 scientific program will open with a bang with the world-famous Anatomy on Cadaver Workshop via live stream for the most in-depth, detailed insights into the anatomy procedures and complications. Essential themes such as body & face surgery, injectables, suspending devices and lasers & EBD alongside full day modules in clinical dermatology, cosmeceuticals, breast and practice management will be covered, reflecting the breadth of our field. This year, we have also incorporated specific courses to cater for different levels, covering popular topics such as buttocks, peelings, vulvovaginal treatments, hair restoration and fat implants.

IMCAS sessions span 9 rooms simultaneously over two floors with more than 580 speakers and 200 major industry players. Choose the sessions that interest you most and tailor your learning to suit you and your practice. You cannot attend all the sessions or you are scared to miss out? Do not worry ! You can access content from IMCAS Annual World Congress online via IMCAS Academy, our academic and social e-learning platform. IMCAS Academy offers over 1000 videos from IMCAS congresses across the world, resulting in a digital anytime, anywhere approach that stretches beyond the congresses and offers aesthetic learning at your fingertips.

Adding to the learning experience, IMCAS also provides ample opportunities for you to network, socialize and celebrate our profession in more informal surroundings. Meet and exchange with your peers during the Networking Cocktail, relax and kick back for a fun evening during the Gala Dinner.

We once again extend the warmest of welcomes to all of our colleagues, both new and returning.

конфликт ИНТЕРЕСОВ

Мы постоянно настаиваем на полной независимости между учебными (или научными) курсами и отраслевыми спонсорами наших конференций.

Все научные лекции, как и предполагается, должны основываться на объективной интерпретации данных и непредвзятой интерпретации фактов со справедливым представительством всех специальностей, имеющих отношение к области медицинской эстетики.

Следовательно, все участники должны раскрывать любой конфликт интересов который мог бы повлиять на содержание их презентации. Это раскрытие будет автоматически отображаться перед презентацией выступающего

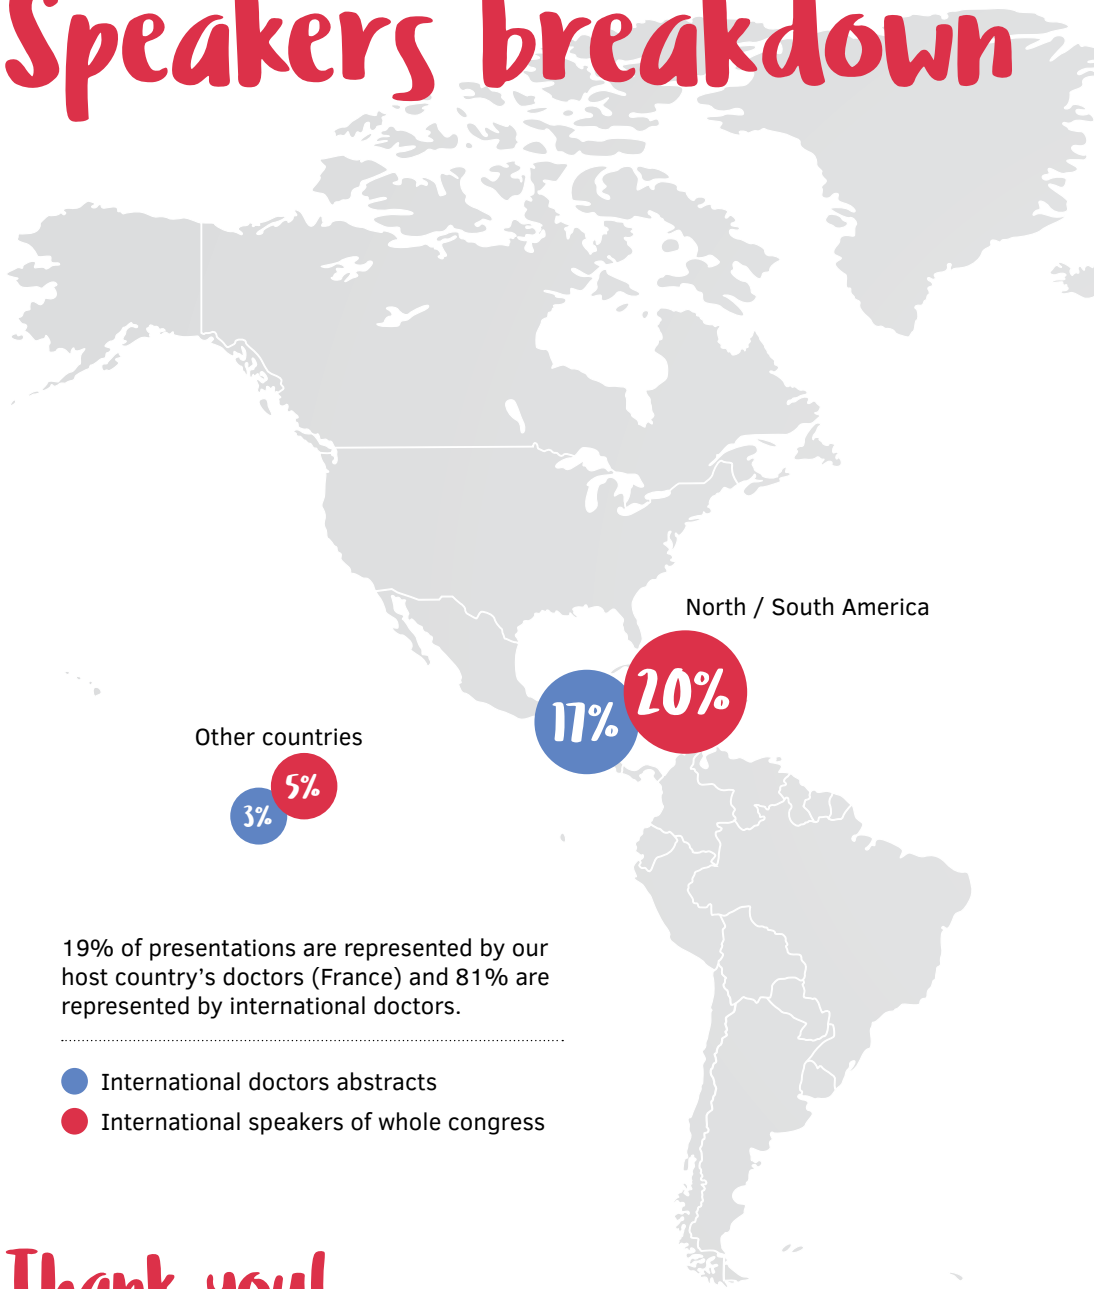
Speakers breakdown



19% of presentations are represented by our host country's doctors (France) and 81% are represented by international doctors.

- International doctors abstracts
- International speakers of whole congress

Thank you!

We received 465 abstracts for IMCAS Annual World Congress 2017 compared to 357 abstracts received last year. That's a 30% increase!

This year, we have speakers coming from 58 different countries. The international physicians travel all the way to our congress to share and expand their knowledge with the world.

The IMCAS team wants to express their gratitude to all of our abstract submitters, and to all of their evaluators for their valuable time and effort to help us improve IMCAS Annual World Congress 2017. For this reason, we are able to continuously assure participants the highest level of scientific content and excellence.

The selection process of these abstracts derives from precision and expertise. To ensure unbiased presentations, each abstract is carefully studied and preceded by the approval of a strict conflict of interest policy (COI), which is constantly updated by IMCAS in order to uphold a standard imposed by international CME accreditation entities.

The GREAT 17

Seventeen themes focus on the most innovative ways to treat your patients. From invasive to non-invasive procedures you will be able to learn about almost everything in our profession.

1 Anatomy on cadaver

Popular with long-term attendees and newcomers alike, the live cadaver dissections allow an effective exploration of the anatomy of different facial and body zones, before applying that knowledge in live demonstrations of injections, thread lifts, mammary implant, lasers & EBD and vulvovaginal treatments on patients. Last year, we featured live satellite links with Taipei and Tokyo, which enabled physicians from across the world to benefit from and contribute to the workshop. In 2017, we are continuing our ever-growing global approach, with links to Surabaya, Indonesia. Refer to page 32 for more details.

SESSIONS	MODULE DIRECTORS

2 Body shaping & lipolysis

Body shaping and lipolysis is an excellent option for those with patients who are looking for a treatment that can reduce fat in different zones of their body but are reluctant to undergo surgery. Through non-commercial product analysis we will look at the cryotherapy technique as well as the technique of heating which is divided into radio frequency and combined systems versus non-radiofrequency. Further sessions will aim to understand the novelties and limits of body shaping techniques and liposculpturing.

OBJECTIVES

This exceptional one-day workshop is designed to help physicians gain a very precise and complete understanding of the anatomy behind each part of the face and body. Through this understanding, they will be able to perform effective treatments of injections, threads, lasers & EBD, mammary implants and vulvovaginal treatments thereby reducing risks and complications for patients.

It is a unique opportunity for practitioners to expand their repertoire of techniques and learn treatments from the best anatomists and experts.

The Cadaver Workshop is split into 8 parts, with each one focussing on a specific zone. Starting with a dissection, then a live demonstration on a patient beamed from a treatment room and final comments from international experts.

This year's event will feature, for the first time, a live satellite link with Surabaya, Indonesia, enabling physicians from across the world to benefit from and contribute to the workshop. Between workshop and by offering to their insights and expertise during the debate sections.

DEBATES

The last part of each section will be dedicated to a debate between experts and the audience regarding what they have seen and which techniques are best suited to each product or device used. This year we will have two commentators live from Surabaya, Indonesia. This is the perfect opportunity for you to gainan international expert point of view.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The live demonstrations, performed in a dedicated treatment room and beamed live to the conference room, will offer tips, tricks and updates regarding the best techniques to use. The dissector will simultaneously perform the same demonstrations on the cadaver, thus giving you an immediate side-by-side anatomical reference.

DISSECTIONS

Transmitted via a live satellite link from the Fer à Moulin Surgery School of Paris - the dissections will enable you to gain a deeper understanding of the essential anatomy of the face and other parts of the body.

*A percentage of the proceeds will be collected to help a charity

"Give something back"

Every year a percentage of our ticket sales from our Gala Dinner event "La Nuit IMCAS" goes to support a charity. For several years, this donation has supported a range of worthy causes. In 2015, for example, it paid for the creation of an IT platform that showed patients the different reconstruction techniques after breast cancer, meaning a patient can now visualize her options, leading to clearer expectations and a greater sense of involvement in the process.

So join us for a dazzling evening of dining and entertainment and support an essential cause at the same time!

Last year, IMCAS had the pleasure of contributing to a wonderful charity aimed at helping women deal with and recover from cancer. CEW is a global network (US, UK, France) of 8 000 professionals that promotes sharing, exchange and mutual aid within the world of the beauty. The French CEW has developed a wonderful project called: «Les Centres de Beauté» in order to help women during and after their illness and bring them physical and moral comfort. For many patients, having to be treated in hospital comes as a shock. No matter the quality of the care and treatment, they are scared, and fear they might not recover their body and face integrity. That's why CEW brings them human support (listening, relaxation), and beauty treatments to reconcile them with their body. Today, this support is present in 29 hospitals in France and so far 21 000 patients have benefited from this treatment.

It was an honour to welcome Mrs Françoise MONTENAY, the president of CEW France and of the Chanel's supervisory board during the IMCAS Gala Dinner 2016 and to make a donation for this magnificent cause.

Moments WITH THE EXPERTS

Interview with
Dr Hugues Cartier
Dermatologist, France

"The laser has revolutionized the care of aging skin ..."

1. Why is the picosecond laser such an important device in many fields of dermatology?

The switched laser (Q-switched) was already a singular laser, in relation to its photo-acoustic /photo-mechanical effect. Laser firing was emitted in nanoseconds with phenomenal energy of the order of 100,000 watts with a real effectiveness on photo-rejuvenation and, of course, tattoos. Its successor, the "pico" laser emits in several hundred picoseconds, so still a somewhat shorter duration. The aim is to be able to fragment the tattoo pigment molecules, for example, into smaller sizes with the nano laser. Thus the tattoo is removed faster and the subsequent skin repair is more rapid. We gain valuable time for the patient and for his/her skin.

2. How has the market for and popularity of Lasers and EBD changed in recent years? Can you explain the major advances?

The laser has revolutionized the care of aging skin, especially with ablative lasers becoming fractionated 10 years ago.

But the aftereffects, with a healing process that is still too long, has necessitated new technologies as the demand now concerns an increasingly younger population.

In addition to q-switched picolasers, fractional non-ablative lasers and radiofrequency in all its forms, whether fractionated or with Microneedle or hifu, have been the new developments of recent years.

The real revolution for me is being able to combine them to better target whatever we wish to act on: the complexion, marks, texture or re-plumping, the dermal structure or subdermal for loosening. Today we have a real arsenal to fight or prevent photoaging and loosening whatever the age. This can complicate the care because it is necessary to have several devices but these synergistic combinations optimize the result with acceptable surgical aftereffects and an increasingly minimal recovery time.

3. What do you see for the future when it comes to aesthetic development in the field of lasers and EBD?

Between the photobiomodulation with the exclusive use of LEDs and the ablative lasers, which necessitate a recovery time, everyone must be able to find happiness. However, the physician must remain the guarantor of good medical and ethical practices without giving in to the temptation of exclusive marketing.

Novelty does not guarantee a good result. Physicians should share their good or less good experiences for the best safety advice vis-à-vis our patients.

The next revolution will be based on good transdermal delivery of active rejuvenating ingredients through our devices either by penetration or by photo-activation. We have gold particles for acne, cortisone for pathological scars. We also have the example with the 5-ALA, which is photo-activated by a light source: lamp, laser and even daylight! With the 5-ALA, we target and erase the cutaneous skin damage caused by UV, namely certain skin cancers such as basal cell carcinomas and actinic keratosis, while restoring radiance and a second youth to the skin.

It's ironic, we prevent skin cancers by advocating sunscreens as much as possible, but we are increasingly rejuvenating patients by photoactivation: either with the light sources already available or by exposing patients to sunlight.

BY CARRIE BRIFFETT, IMCAS EDITORIAL SECRETARIAT

this year's HOT TOPICS

IMCAS asked experts in their field to make some predictions and tell us what we will be focusing on in the coming year. What will we all be talking about in 2017?

Dr Leslie Baumann
Dermatologist, United States

Heparan sulfate (HS). New studies have shown its importance in youthful skin. It is a very interesting molecule that is lost in aged skin. HS is a dynamic and multifunctional molecule that interacts with a large number of partner proteins modulating their function and therefore controlling biological pathways involved in aging, wound healing, repair, psoriasis, atopic dermatitis, rosacea, redness etc. More specifically, HS controls critical pathways that influence skin sagginess, hydration, pigmentation and lines and wrinkle formation. We will be seeing more and more research about its importance in the future.

Dr Ashraf Badawi
Dermatologist, Canada

I wish that we will all be talking about the "restoration of the natural look". When we look around we see a large number of celebrities and even normal people not looking natural due to surgical or aesthetic procedures that were overdone or not suitable for those particular individuals.

I wish to see every practitioner in this field working on restoring the structure and the function of the skin and its underlying tissue, which will be positively reflected on the appearance of the skin.

Combination therapy with EBD and lower amounts of injectables and maybe some minor surgical procedures could help in achieving a natural look much better than what we have seen in the past years.

In addition, anti-aging programs to maintain the skin in good shape and delay the signs of skin aging are being adopted more and more and this also will help in maintaining the natural look.

Dr Berthold Rzany
Dermatologist, Germany

For me one of the questions is on threads. I am still not sure whether they work or not. What we see in workshops are short-term results. Which look okay in patients with a low degree of elastosis. What we need is good clinical trial data on threads – specifically on long-term results. Otherwise at least for me the thread story looks more like the fairy tale from Christian Anderson: 'The Emperor's New Clothes'!

Dr Daniel Z Liu
Plastic surgeon, United States

In 2017, the field of plastic and aesthetic surgery will continue to grow in areas of regenerative medicine. We expect to see wider acceptance of autologous fat grafting as well as introduction of adipose-derived allograft fillers for non-invasive fat grafting that may lead to longer retention in soft tissue augmentation.

Dr Alexandros Bader
Gynecologist, UK

I am certain that in 2017, we will be talking about how the field of Cosmetic and Aesthetic Gynecology has entered into a historical moment. This field will stop being called "upcoming" and now we will talk about a realistic approach and performance with a sufficient number of procedures and using several technologies. It will be the year that good professionals of this field will stand united and will clear the field from taboo and misunderstandings. Cosmetic Gynecology this year will be represented in the international field from plenty of groups and associations, each one will be working hard from its side for the benefit of the patients and definitely for the improvement knowledge.

Dr Neil Sadick
Dermatologist, United States

New biologic agents for cellulite and fat, new approaches to the treatment of hair loss – both medical and surgical and a new treatment paradigm for using filling agents coined "Volumetric Structural Rejuvenation"

Dr Steven Dayan
Facial plastic surgeon, United States

I believe in 2017 we will all be celebrating a significant increase in consumer confidence and the global economy leading to the upward trend in all aesthetic businesses and research. Along these lines consumers will be expressing more interest in PRP (platelet rich plasma) and hair replacement/enhancing treatments. Genital male cosmetic treatments will become a buzz in the media but not really gain any clinical traction. And smart phone apps will continue to blur the lines between what is a real and what is virtual impacting the expectations of patients.

Target your learning for an in-depth approach

This year, we have decided to create what we have coined "target courses" which are 1 hour sessions with a maximum of two to three expert speakers on a chosen theme.

These sessions will take place in the more intimate mezzanine level of the congress space and are destined to a smaller audience. The experts will have more time to go in-depth into a subject, with each session targeting a specific level to ensure that you get the knowledge you need to enhance your understanding.

Beginners can be initiated into the practical techniques of liposuction, vulvovaginal treatments and much more, while advanced level courses include fat grafting or buttock surgery. At the end of the day, all levels come together at a session to explore how 3D technology can add value in medical consultations.

So, head over to the Mezzanine (level 3,5) for a 1 hour intensive approach on a dedicated hot topic.

Corporate FUNDING

BROWSE IMCAS.COM

Read more about how IMCAS retrieves its revenues and where they come from.

IMCAS derives its revenues either from the industry's subscriptions or from physicians's subscriptions.

IMCAS is conducting educational activities but it is also a profit-seeking business.

How can this dilemma be resolved? Simply by clearly identifying and differentiating sponsored activities from non sponsored ones.

Business grants and sponsorships are clarified in order for all concerned parties (doctors, industries, foundations, government bodies, private purpose funds) to stay aware and vigilant. Thus, IMCAS embraces and welcomes funding only if that funds' origins are traced.

Industries acting as business corporations, may support IMCAS by providing either an educational grant or a sponsorship.

- An educational grant for a program or an event is a financial donation with no exchange partnership at stake. Funds are given according to the donator wishes in order to support the recipient's program or project. The scientific content is entirely developed and chosen by the Scientific Board and as such is eligible for CME accreditation. Unlike sponsoring, which is a bilateral exchange involving the recipient promoting its sponsor, granting is a unilateral gesture.

- A sponsorship is the financial support of an activity. Sponsoring an event involves a partnership exchange between the sponsor and the sponsee. Although a commercial intent may be at heart, one must bear in mind that reasons for sponsoring are various.

ACP® Double Syringe

PRP System for Aesthetic Medicine and Plastic Surgery

Arthrex Personalized Cell Therapy is a PRP (Platelet Rich Plasma) procedure which can stimulate tissue recovery and regeneration completely naturally. As such, it is used in the treatment of wrinkles and alopecia as well as for reconstructions and flap plasty. [1, 2]
This is due to the growth factors found in the blood plasma and the platelets. These initiate processes which, amongst other things, lead to cell proliferation, collagen synthesis and matrix formation. [3, 4]

The ACP Double Syringe enables closed and easy production of PRP. No synthetic separating materials are used as the PRP is separated from the other blood components in a purely physical process.

Two Syringes in One
An innovative design for producing PRP with a platelet concentration that is two to three times greater coupled with a reduction in white blood cells and erythrocytes

Speed
Using the Arthrex ACP Double Syringe, PRP can be produced and applied within a few minutes (if used within 30 minutes of blood sampling no anticoagulant is necessary)

Safety
The Arthrex ACP Double Syringe is a closed, sterile system for use in the practice or in an OR setting

Simplicity
System handling is easy and practical
